

Company Overview

The Raztak Trading Company is engaged in the production and cultivation of grapes and their derivatives such as raisins and grape syrup, and to ensure the quality of its products, it is doing all stages of grape cultivation under its supervision and on a large scale by using modern agriculture. Today, Raztak has become one of the leading companies in the production of grapes and its derivatives in the Middle East, relying on fertile fields or orchards, and by using specialized manpower and modern equipment. The Raztak production lines have been set up using fully automatic machines, which are taken from the latest technology in the world, and the incoming grapes of this company are ready for processing after the approval of the experts of the quality control unit.

Business Description

Grape is a juicy fruit with soft skin and is a popular and tasty product that grows in all temperate regions of the world. This fruit contains large amounts of vitamins, antioxidants and minerals and is useful for preventing cancer, strengthening the immune system and controlling diabetes. Grapes have many derivatives such as juices, jams, vinegar, raisins, etc., each of which is in the food basket of families. This product is also one of the top 20 products produced around the world that are both freshly consumed and its derivatives such as raisins, jams, jellies, fruit juices, etc. are also in use. According to reports from the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, at present 75,866 square kilometers of land in different parts of the world is under cultivation of this crop. At present, China ranks first in the world with an annual production of 10.8 million tons of grapes, followed by India and Turkey, respectively. The Rastak Trading Company has become one of the top producers of grapes and its derivatives in the region due to its abundant farms and orchards.
